Central Labor Union Passes Resolutions Favoring Speaker of House for Governor; Stand Taken Against I. W. Wism and Bolshevism; 3 Preachers Received as Delegates; Organizer Here to Settle Strike.

AT THE bi-monthly meeting of the Central Labor Union of El Paso Monday night, the representatives of the affiliated unions came out unanimously against the "insidious un-American doctrine" which have brought about the dissolution of various parts of Europe, endorsing the candidacy of R. E. Thomason of El Paso for the governorship of Texas, received as internal delegates three members of the El Paso Municipal Alliance and voted until the first of the coming year the proposition to have representation in the El Paso chamber of commerce.

Alfred W. T. Griffith, who is vice president of the Central Labor Union, introduced the anti-Bolshevik, anti-I. W. W. resolution.

W. L. Kras introduced the resolution endorsing the candidacy of R. E. Thomason, representative from El Paso county in the lower house of the Texas Legislature and speaker of the house, for the governorship. The resolution carried Mr. Thomason's record and shown him as a champion of the people and the perfect fairness to labor.

Preachers are seated.

Rev. Miss Akin, Rev. Van Tasselsburg and Rev. C. Baker presided.

right off just like a banana peel. You can try to dig or cut or your corns with a knife, or else with a "bloody" razor, or use band-aids and tape and wrap up your feet in a package, but that's the "break-em-out" painful, foolish way. Use 2 or 3 drops of "Get-It" and that's that never fails. You reach the corn easily with the little glass and in the cork of every bottle. It does not hurt the true flesh. Try it, and you'll find it's a blessing, never fails. "Get-It" is the only safe, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a little at any drug store. MFG by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

WILSON CALLS FOR NEW DEAL

Asks Miners and Operators to Get Together on a Scale.

Officials Relieved by News.

Government officials here received with undisguised relief news of the announcement in Indianapolis early today that the executives of the United Mine Workers of America had voted to call off the nation wide strike of coal miners as directed by federal judge Anderson. Just what the next move would be could only be conjectured early today. At last night, attorney general Palmer stated that president Wilson's offer for a peaceful settlement of the differences between the miners and operators still was open through negotiation or arbitration.

Whether the mine workers in reaching their decision had in view a request that the president name a board of arbitration as he had suggested was not known here, but it was believed such a suggestion would speedily come from them or from the federal judge.

Labor Leaders Surprised.

Labor leaders here, who got their first word from Indianapolis through press dispatches, were distinctly surprised by the turn of events. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, then told of the announcement by acting president Lewis of the miners' organization, refused to say anything.

Edward Wallace, legislative representative of the miners, who had been waiting for news to hear what happened, likewise, was silent, and other officials at federation headquarters declined to comment on the settlement. Some of the officials said a statement might be issued later in the day by president Morrison or the executive council.

There was much discussion among labor leaders as to how the miners themselves might view the action of the Indianapolis conference in calling off the strike. One of the spokesmen for the union, said, "I am sure that the miners would go back to work today and stay out tomorrow, while many will today would work tomorrow."

Mr. Wallace thought there would be as difficult now in negotiating a new wage agreement with the operators.

There was no statement from the executive committee of the operators. It being explained at committee headquarters that this would come from Thomas T. Brewster, of St. Louis, head of the scale committee.

Cabinet Holds Meeting.

President Wilson's cabinet met an hour earlier than usual, so members might be at the union station at noon in case the strike situation was to be discussed, but officials would not say before the meeting whether the government would volunteer its services to adjust the difficulties between the miners and operators.

Calder, members plainly were elated by news from Indianapolis. "That's fine—they took the proper course," said secretary Glass, when told that the strike would be called off. "The miners have announced that the strike order would be rescinded."

Secretary Wilson would not discuss the strike situation further than to say that it was the function of the executive council.

At 10:30 a. m. today, the thermometer registered 15 below zero at El Paso today and the entire state is covered by a heavy snow which will probably melt by the middle of the week. Temperatures were reported from many parts of Montana. The coal strike is reported to be less through the state.

NEBRASKA STORM BRATES.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 11.—The snow and storm which hit Nebraska yesterday crippled trains and telegraph service and found many communities facing fuel shortages, had abated today.

TO RETURN IN WASHINGTON.

Salt Lake, Nov. 11.—Ten representatives of the 36 Washington locals of the United Mine Workers will meet as soon as possible to make plans for returning to work. Henderson, state district secretary of the mine workers, said here today.

What The Coal Miners Want And Why Explanation Of The Strike Trouble

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Nov. 11.—The thousands of coal miners in the surrounding camps outside of the city are typical of the workers in the mining centers of the southwest. The mode of living, the working conditions and things in general that affect the industry are practically the same here as in any of the fields.

The operators insist that to accede to the demands of the union would be calamity.

The miners are just as vehement in asserting that the operators are unjust in refusing the demand of the miners.

Miners' District a Sample.

To gain a comprehensive idea of the demands of the strikers and the conditions on November 11, the Pittsburgh district is selected as a representative example.

The demand for a 40-hour week, the operators and miners, effective until the strike, top men, or outside labor, are not to be paid for overtime. The rate of $1.25 a day.

Inside laborers, such as track repairers, mine drivers and workers on that general character, received a flat rate of $3 a day.

Outside laborers who work with picks were paid at a rate of $1.50 a day, plus "yardage," or the work done by the digger.

PROPOSES COAL STRIKE PROBE OF THE STRIKE

Senate Plan Would Have Probers Suggest Way to Prevent Other Tieups.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Investigation of the coal strike was proposed in a resolution introduced today by senator James. Republican, Washington. The resolution was referred to the senate labor committee, which will determine whether an inquiry is advisable.

The resolution would give the committee authority to suggest any measure for federal action to prevent recurrence of similar strikes. Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, said the resolution also should be broad enough to authorize investigation of Judge Anderson's injunction order.

Partners of labor to offer to mediate in all strikes.

Operations Will Negotiate.

Mr. Brewster, on his arrival here today from St. Louis, made no comment on the settlement of the strike.

As far as the operators are concerned, the situation is unchanged," Brewster said. "We have always been ready to resume negotiations with the miners when the strike was called off."

Mr. Brewster is in conference today with a group of operators who came here with him and later they went to the office of fuel administrator Garfield.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was to meet this afternoon and it was said at federation headquarters that no statement on the strike settlement would be forthcoming in advance of the meeting.

Guarantee Hope Administration.

Abjuring loyalty to a "temporary" administration which violates the principles of democracy, Samuel Campbell, speaking for American labor in the international federation of trades unions, declared that "we are not going to support any administration of labor that is not a true representative of the coal miners' strike had reached the president's desk."

Resigning to the American labor leader's address, Leon J. Walsh, leader of the French labor delegation to the international labor conference, declared that "if the workers of the United States need the assistance of the workers of other countries, they will get it," he added. "Producers cannot separate the interests of workers and consumers."

COLD WEATHER IS CAUSING MUCH SUFFERING FOR FUEL

Lewellyn, vice president of district No. 15, said that the strike would be called off by 6 o'clock this morning and he had not received notification from Indianapolis of decision of international union of miners. He said that the order of the United States district judge A. H. Anderson in rescinding the strike was not announced early today.

The meeting was probably the most important ever held by the miners' organization, it was the most weighty ever conducted by the organization since the strike. In the view of labor leaders, it was in determining whether an organization would be formed by operators to pressure through the courts to dissuade a strike, when apparently all the members of the union were in the balance, and this fact gave miners' representatives who favored holding out an argument which weighed heavily with some of their colleagues.

On the other hand, the president's designation of the strike as unlawful, the miners' refusal to accept the position of denying the government of the United States, if they refused to call off the strike and, aside from many dirt falls and be found, in the course of his work to clean up much debris. While he is paid separately for that work, the miners say they are handicapped in this way and their income reduced at such times.

Miners on Diggers' Earnings.

Estimates vary as to the income of an average digger in a single day. Miners' representatives insist that the average digger can realize only $1.50 a day. The fact that a ton paid diggers, the men must furnish their own tools, materials, such as powder, dynamite caps and fuses, and, in addition, pay for sharpening tools. The amount deducted by reason of these expenses is estimated variously. A representative of the operators fixed the amount at 15 cents on each ton, while the miners' estimate increased the figure materially.
